

Welcome to icouldbe.org WEBSITE TOUR

Welcome to icouldbe.org!

The goal of icouldbe.org is to connect high school students with career and professional mentors over the internet, and help them explore careers, learn about their options, and start thinking about ways to pursue their dreams.

This tour will give you a SNEAK PEAK of what the program and website looks like. We will take you to three main pieces of the site:

- CareerSphere
- InfoSpace
- MediaPulse

Let's go ahead and take a look...

CAREER SPHERE

The heart of icouldbe.org and the place where mentors and mentees communicate.

- Activities- Online activities where you and your year-long mentee work together to explore different career goals and how to reach them.
- Resource Center-contains further explanation of activities as well as information and examples.
- My Mail- Go here to read and reply to e-mail messages from year-long and spontaneous mentees
- Advice Boards- A place to post and read quotes, riddles, inspiring thoughts, questions and general commentary from all icouldbe.org members

CAREERSPHERE: ACTIVITIES

Activities are the “meat and potatoes” of the icouldbe.org program. Each week, mentees will work on a new activity, answering questions on a range of topics that include who they are, their goals and dreams, career and college exploration and financial literacy. It is here where you will be working with your mentee each week, reading what they have written and posting responses to their work.

1. Who are you?

Where were you born? Where do you live? (state only) What is your neighborhood like? What is your ethnicity? What languages do you speak? Who is in your family? How have they influenced who you are? Do you have any pets? How would you describe your personality? What are your talents and strengths?

i was born in L.A. and i live in California. my neighborhood is quite peaceful but yet so rough.... and i live right in front of a park which is the best thing about it. i speak both english and korean, mostly korean, at home. i live with my father, mother, and my little sisters, sometimes my grandmother. we are currently starting to gain influence on each other. i used to have a pet dog and 2 birds. im a nice person, i care more about others than myself.

You are very fortunate to be bilingual. And you definately have the English language down, GOOD FOR YOU! When I lived in Japan, I picked up quite a bit of Japanese, but have never used it since. It is true, if you don't use it, you will lose it. My brother lives in LA (actually Saugus). He is a photographer for the LA Daily News.

CAREERSPHERE: MY MAIL

icouldbe.org's very own email system. Mentors and mentees go here to read and reply to e-mail messages through a safe online system.

This bulletin board is where people post messages. There may be many different discussions on the board. If you want to post a new subject to the advice board just hit the "Post New Subject" button. To respond to a message all you have to do is hit the "Reply To Subject" button. Post a message and see who answers!

These boards are for icouldbe.org, school and career related discussions. Idle chatter will be removed and repeat offenders will lose their icouldbe.org privileges.

Advice Board: mentee to mentor

The "mentee to mentor" advice board is for discussions between mentees and mentors.
